PROSPECTS GREAT FOR FRUIT ON THE PECOS

No Harm Done by Cold as Yet and Orchardists Propose Most Thorough Spraying Campaign on Record.

Special Correspondence to the Herald:

Roswell, N. M., March 12.—According to data in the federal land office at Santa Fe there had been up to the end of the last year, 10,621 desert land entries in New Mexico, covering 2,056,464 acres. 1,300 rural desert land entries covering 179,499 acres; 1,912 timber land entries—239,316 acres; 91 flat timber land entries—12,551 acres; 35 converted timber land entries, 7,837 acres; 292 coal land entries, 15,029 acres, while in the national forests there are 16,172,930 acres, in national monument reservations, Cimarron Canyon, 26,629 acres; El Moro, 160 acres; Guadalupe, 160 acres. There have been surveyed by the federal government in New Mexico 54,758,155 acres of public lands, while 26,643,762 acres are still unsurveyed.

According to J. H. Wilfley, the expert horticulturist, who is under the employ of the county horticulture board this year as inspector for the Roswell district, no apples have been injured by the cold weather, while some peaches have been blighted by the cold, there will be many trees that will bear nicely unless the late cold weather or frosts to come might catch them. Cherries are also safe, but it is not sure of the early plums.

Spraying will commence about the first to the tenth of April for Jonathans, and where there is mixed variety in the Jonathan tracts there will have to be two and three sprays. The spraying this year will also be done on a more thorough and scientific basis. Not only the horticulture board, but the fruit exchange by cold figures have shown that last year's returns to the growers could have been doubled on the 300 cars shipped if the fruit had been more sprayed; the predominant purpose now is to see that there are more fancies.

To do this the orchards have been more generally and scientifically cleaned, irrigated, fertilized and pruned this year. Some have not yet finished pruning. In the Hagerman orchards, Thomas Fox has some

Members of Local Lodge Feel They have Accomplished Their Share of Work and Now Need Active Co-Operation.

Having Launched the movement to secure a Pythian tuberculosis sanitarium for this city, the local members of the order are endeavoring to rouse the Commercial club, the business men of the city and the officials to press it through to a finish. The sanitarium will be a big institution, and a most important addition to the material prosperity of the community.

"It will add something like 4,000 to the population of the city, and its erection and maintenance will involve the expenditure of large sums."

Many of those who come to the sanitarium will bring their families, who will live in town and trade here, and many, of course, will recover and stay here. Numbers of them will go into business. In short, the sanitarium will be one of the biggest factors in Albuquerque's development that we can see ahead at this juncture."

In his effort to get the sanitarian Albuquerque will start with the support not only of every Pythian in the state of New Mexico, but of one of the most influential Pythians is the United States—Fred E. Wheaton, supreme keeper of records and seal, who yesterday came out unreservedly in favor of this city as the site of the sanitarium.

Mr. Gates today pointed out that a number of grand lodges meet soon and that the Commercial Club should make plans without delay to secure the support of these lodges for this city. It is suggested that representatives of the city visit the grand lodges and ask that the different representatives to the supreme lodge be instructed to vote for Albuquerque. All grand lodges, and particularly all the supreme representatives should be furnished with data on Albuquerque's climate and other advantages.

Above all, Mr. Gates pointed out, it was important to send a delegation—say of three or five members—to the national convention of Pythians which will be held in Winnipeg next August.

At that convention there is no doubt that when the sanitarian question comes up Supreme Keeper of Records Wheaton will speak in favor of Albuquerque. He was enthusiastically pledged to Albuquerque when he left here yesterday.

It has been suggested that it would

WORK STARTS ON NEW WATERWORKS FOR RATON

Business Men of Pass City Propose to Build Road Through Red River Canyon to Vermejo Park.

Special Correspondence to the Herald:

Estes Park, N. M., March 12.—Hiram Phillips, consulting engineer, and J. E. Gordon, who holds the contract for the construction of the new Raton waterworks, have arrived from Pueblo and state that machinery is now on the way from the Colorado city and that construction work on the new plant will be under way within a very few days.

At a recent meeting of the Estes Park Business Men's club partial plans were made for the construction of a road to Vermejo park, the road to pass through Red River canyon, Potato canyon and Cañon. The road will be of value not only as a trade feeder but as a trip for tourists and home people seeking an outing in the beautiful scenery of the Vermejo park region.

The business men's association already is making plans for the state convention of retail associations which will be held here in July. Roswell has promised to come with at least a dozen automobile loads of delegates and a large attendance is expected from all over the state.

Raton Has a Suicide.

George Hill, a well dressed young man who came to Raton only a few days ago, was found dead in a room in an East Raton lodging house early Sunday morning. Death had resulted from carbolic acid and letters left to a sister living at Raton House, La., showed that he had taken his life because of despondency caused by ill health.

Many ills come from impure blood. Can't have pure blood with faulty digestion, lax liver and sluggish bowels. Burdock Root Bitters is recommended for strengthening the stomach, bowels and liver and purifying the blood!

help much to place in the hands of all supreme representatives between now and the date of the grand lodges meetings a copy of the statement given out to the newspapers by Mr. Wheaton in announcing his support of Albuquerque. No Pythian is more widely known or highly esteemed than he, and it is certain that his advocacy of Albuquerque will have great effect.

Southwest Is a Paradise for Tourists

President of Lincoln Highway Association, Back from Tour to Taos, More Enthusiastic Than Ever Over New Mexico.

Special Correspondence to the Herald:

Estes Park, N. M., March 12.—Hiram Phillips, consulting engineer, and J. E. Gordon, who holds the contract for the construction of the new Raton waterworks, have arrived from Pueblo and state that machinery is now on the way from the Colorado city and that construction work on the new plant will be under way within a very few days.

More enthusiastic than ever with the plan to combine the Ocean-to-Ocean highway with the Lincoln highway in a route for transcontinental automobile tourists, H. B. Joy, president of the Lincoln Highway association and the Packard Motor Car company, returned to this city today from a week's trip to Santa Fe in a new model Packard he has been trying out.

Mr. Joy has become as enthusiastic over the route through the southwest country as he has been over the general plan for the establishment of the Lincoln highway. He repeated with increased emphasis today the statement he made when he came to Albuquerque last week that he advised transcontinental tourists to swing down south from the Lincoln highway at Cheyenne, traveling through Colorado, New Mexico and Arizona to California—or, if they preferred, to travel west all the way on the Lincoln highway, but return by the southern route.

The whole northern route can't begin to offer the picturesque and historic sights to be found in the southwest," said Mr. Joy.

"What I wish," continued Mr. Joy, who has as already announced, planned to issue and circulate a booklet on the combined route, "is definite and official information from the road associations and state authorities regarding a settled route. With the route fixed the different state and road bodies can concentrate their efforts on making every mile of it at least passable, if not exactly up to the boulevard standard."

In the interest of the countrywide publicity to be given the southern route, Mr. Joy is in favor of discarding the name Ocean-to-Ocean highway in favor of the Santa Fe Trail.

"I think the best bet here is the magic name of the Santa Fe Trail," he said, "laid out through Los Angeles, marked as officially adopted by Kansas, New Mexico, Arizona and California. It is a name that appeals to the imagination, and has the additional recommendation of a historic badge."

Mr. Joy was delighted with the sights of Santa Fe and the country about there. He said he spent a memorable week. He toured to Taos and the Vigil Grant. He was particularly impressed in Santa Fe with the work done by the Archeological society.

"It is a wonderful work," he said enthusiastically. "A remarkable work."

Mr. Joy said the side trip to Santa Fe was one that no transcontinental tourist could afford to overlook. The run is made from Caneito to Santa Fe, and from there to Taos and the Vigil Grant. Returning to Santa Fe the tourist then comes down to Albuquerque and on westward. Santa Fe, Mr. Joy said, was an important and natural center for a two-weeks' side trip.

Mr. Joy plans to leave for the east tonight. Before he goes he will see Mayor Setters, president of the Ocean-to-Ocean highway, not only to urge that the name of the route be changed to the Santa Fe Trail but to get as much as possible of the New Mexico data for his booklet.

From Santa Fe Mr. Joy yesterday sent Mayor Setters the following telegram, received from Estes Park, via his associate:

Henry B. Joy.

Santa Fe, N. M.

"Bigington interviewed Pennsylvania governor and highway commissioner yesterday. They will immediately mark route of Lincoln highway across Pennsylvania at state's expense."

To which Mr. Joy appended the following annotation:

Hon. D. K. B. Setters.

"Dear Mr. Setters: You see the surprise we are getting in our Lincoln highway work. It is simply great.

Everybody turns to and helps nail it on the map. Hope to see you to-morrow.
